CST HONOR ROLL 2015
came out for Temple Toast, an online event celebrating the capstone project for geology majors. Supporters also came out for the Women in Computing Conference and the field camp. The college was able to present the first scholarships this year. Congratulations to students Steven Liu, CST ’18, Bio; Laura Baratta, CST ’16, Chem; and Dustin Huinh, CST ’16, IST. The CST Alumni Board is led by president Jim Guare (BA ’77, MA ’83, Chem), vice president Sina Adibi (BA ’84, CIS; FOX ’86) and Christian Obasi (MS ’08, EES), chair of the Board’s scholarship committee.

ENDOWED PROFESSORSHIPS

To recruit and retain outstanding research faculty, the college launched a $1 million campaign to fund two endowed term professorships within the college. The fund is now more than halfway towards its goal. These endowed positions will help attract the best researchers from top institutions, and the income the endowment generates offers a guaranteed source of funding to cover laboratory expanses, freeing up money for equipment direct support for research and the dissemination of knowledge.

ONLINE GIVING

All donors, whatever the size of their gift, play a vital role in the life of the college by supporting CST’s academic initiatives. Through Temple’s OwlCrowd online funding site, CST supporters fully funded students attending the Grace Hopper Celebration of Women in Computing Conference and the field camp capstone project for geology majors. Supporters also came out for Temple Toast, an online event celebrating Russell Conwell’s birthday. For this one-day giving campaign, CST’s alumni, faculty, staff, students and friends helped give CST one of the highest gift totals among Temple University’s schools and colleges.
