- Peer evaluation of assignments/activities may be requested to the Chair by the adjunct faculty member. The Chair will arrange an evaluation, as soon as is feasible, depending upon available departmental resources. If the evaluation cannot be done in the semester in which it is requested, it will be done in the next semester in which the adjunct faculty member is employed.

Normally, the adjunct faculty member will be provided with at least one week's notice of an evaluation. Under exceptional circumstances, the university in its sole discretion may conduct an evaluation without notice. If production of student work is requested, the adjunct faculty member will be allowed up to an additional week to assemble and provide the requested materials.
- Performance evaluations shall include multiple measures of performance. These may include but not necessarily be limited to: classroom observation, review of course materials, student projects and/or assignments, and the portfolio, reflective statement, and current cv of the adjunct faculty member.
- Student feedback forms also may be used for evaluation. They shall not be used as the primary tool for evaluation except under exceptional circumstances. The determination of exceptional circumstances is at the sole discretion of Temple University.

- The adjunct faculty member would meet with the Chair or designated personnel decision maker as part of the performance evaluation.
