WHAT DO I DO NOW THAT I GOT A U?

Knowing your Options After Receiving an Unsatisfactory Midterm Rating
"U" RATINGS

- A midterm "U" or unsatisfactory rating indicates one or more of the following:
  - Poor performance on a first exam
  - Low grades on homework and/or quizzes
  - Attendance issues
WHY DO “U” RATINGS MATTER?

- Often lead to unsatisfactory final grades, lower GPAs, and placement on academic warning or probation

- Likely to result in course repeats, typically lengthening time to degree completion

- Lead to a higher percentage of students changing to majors outside of CST
  - Students who receive two or more U ratings in CST courses have a 66% chance of leaving CST
KNOW YOUR OPTIONS

- Receiving a U can be discouraging. However it is a real-time snapshot of your performance in the course to date. Now that you have it, you have a decision to make:

  - Make positive changes to your preparation for and approach to the course
  - Continue doing the same as you have thus far which will likely lead to an unsuccessful attempt at the course
  - Withdraw from the course
FIRST DO THIS

- Meet with your professor/s to discuss:
  - Whether you can still earn the required course grade you need to progress in your major
  - What suggestions they have to help you improve

- This is an important step to take to get a realistic perspective on your ability to be successful in a course.

- Students sometimes assume withdrawing is the only option without speaking to the professor. Know your options and make an informed decision.
- Attend all classes and arrive on time
- Review/read course material before class
- Take thorough notes
- Review your notes and the textbook after class
- Do your homework
- Practice problems/questions for the test on your own
- Spend more time studying/reviewing/preparing for your class
- Utilize the resources available to you
- Ask for help when you need it

WITHDRAWING FROM A COURSE — WHY?

- Why withdraw?
  - If it is impacting your success in your other courses
  - If you have missed too many classes and the attendance policy will prevent you from passing
  - If you cannot earn above a D or F grade based on the course’s grading scale

Deadline: Tuesday, October 25th
WITHDRAWING FROM A COURSE — PROS & CONS

Pros (+):

- Will not impact your GPA
- Will allow you to continue to attend class to learn content without receiving a grade
- Can allow you more time to focus on your other coursework

Cons (-):

- Counts as an attempt at a course (see Repeat Policy slide)
- Still responsible for paying tuition for the course
- May prevent you from progressing in further major coursework in the next semester

Deadline: Tuesday, October 25th
REPEAT POLICY

- Students are allowed three attempts per course
  - Students must petition their home school/college for a third attempt at a course
  - Approval is not guaranteed
  - Remediation work is frequently required

- Withdrawing from a course counts as an attempt, unless approved as an excused withdrawal.
  - Excused withdrawals are only approved for all courses taken in the semester and students must petition for this by following the steps outlined here.

- If unsuccessful after three attempts in a major course, you must declare a different major.
Talk to Student Financial Services to learn how withdrawing may impact any scholarships, grants, or financial aid you receive.

If you are an international student, speak to ISSS as it may impact your visa status.

Contact a CST Academic Advisor if you:
- Are unsure of when you should take the course again.
- Don’t know how withdrawing would impact progress in your major.
- Are considering withdrawing from all of your courses.

Deadline: Tuesday, October 25th
